ASSE Elects New Board of Directors for 2010

Westlake, Ohio, December 28, 2009 — At approximately 8:30 AM on Saturday, November 21, 2009, the American Society of Sanitary Engineering's new Board of Directors were sworn into their elected positions. The nominations, elections and installation of ASSE's Officers and Directors took place in San Antonio, Texas at the Society's 2009 Annual Meeting. Ron Murray, ASSE's newly elected International President, addressed the Society members in attendance by informing them of his great expectations for the year 2010. Murray also congratulated ASSE's Immediate Past President, Rich Prospal, on the exceptional work he has done in progressing the Society's ideals and revitalizing the Society's name and image. As a whole, ASSE's members seem very optimistic about the year 2010 and their new Board of Directors and President.

The 2010 Board of Directors are: President, Ron Murray of Oregon; First Vice President, James Bickford of Florida; Second Vice President, Donald R. Summers, Jr. of Missouri; Third Vice President, Steve Silber of California; Immediate Past President, Richard J. Prospal of Ohio; Treasurer, John F. Flader of Illinois; Region One Director representing the west, Donald Kool of Oregon; Region Two Director representing the northwest, Donald M. Reichartz of Wisconsin; Region Three Director representing the south-central, Dana Colombo of Louisiana; Region Five Director representing the southeast, Kevin Fennell of Florida; Region Six Director representing the east, Edward J. Lyczko of Ohio; Region Seven Director representing the northeast, Sean Cleary of Pennsylvania; and Region Eight Director representing members at-large, Robert D. Tesar of Ohio.
